

Ashutosh Sharma

Ashutosh Sharma presently working as a Principal consultant with DNV GL formally known as KEMA is stationed at Dubai. He is having over 33 years of enriched experience in power utilities and in consulting business. He is honours graduate in Electrical Engineering and having Diploma in Management. He is a certified professional project manager from Project Management Institute, Inc..

His areas of expertise are in the field of Asset management, technical audit, condition assessment and risk analysis. His another specific expertise is “power failure investigations”. He has performed numerous number of failure investigations on capital assets around the globe. He has presented number of technical papers at number of international conferences and seminars.

He has been a task leader of establishing regulatory benchmarking project done by KEMA for The Electricity & Co-Generation Regulatory Authority, Saudi Arabia. He initiated concept of running distribution benchmarking forum in middle east and is presently sponsor of that forum running successfully from last five years where 6 participating distribution utilities are member at this stage.